The Issue: Modern Slavery

Modern slavery is the exploitation of people through force, fraud, or coercion for financial gain. It is the world's fastest-growing and second-largest criminal industry, affecting every country, as a place of origin, transit, or destination for victims. Modern slavery knows no boundaries. It crosses ethnic, cultural, and religious lines, and anyone - regardless of background - can be targeted.

Modern slavery today is not merely an isolated abuse; it is a vast, global network of organised crime.

Leading Responsibly on Modern Slavery

At It's a Penalty, we help businesses move beyond compliance to take meaningful action on modern slavery.

Through strategic consultancy and tailored training, we support organisations to embed ethical, practical approaches across their operations. Since 2014, we've partnered with global brands, especially in travel and hospitality, to deliver impactful prevention and education campaigns.

Addressing modern slavery is not just a legal requirement, it's central to responsible business. As ESG expectations rise, companies must show ethical leadership and real-world impact across supply chains and governance.

Why This Work Matters Now

Regulatory and societal expectations around human rights, labour practices, and supply chain due diligence are rising rapidly.

Businesses need practical tools and expert guidance to navigate this evolving landscape.

Recent developments include:

- EU Corporate Sustainability Due Diligence Directive (CSDDD) – Mandating companies to identify and address human rights and environmental impacts across their supply chains.
- EU Forced Labour Regulation – Prohibiting products made with forced labour from entering EU markets.
- UK Government's 2025 Trade Strategy – Establishing an Office for Responsible Business Conduct with a clear focus on labour rights and ethical trade.
